LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Potential Board Member,

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for showing, through your interest in the BC Council for Families, that you care so deeply about the future of families in our province and the continuing education of practitioners serving them. We are writing you today to ask you to deepen your involvement, or nominate a colleague or friend to the BC Council for Families Board of Directors.

We are seeking Board members who bring diverse backgrounds, experiences, opinions and perspectives. We are seeking those who understand our communities, and who are passionate about supporting and strengthening families and professionals. Our Board members commit their time and energy to attend four quarterly Board meetings (including one face-to-face AGM and meeting), participate in committees via GoToMeeting or phone, planning sessions and some special events.

This year's AGM is June 15 and the face to face board meeting is on June 16 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Board members are required to attend.

Understanding the needs of families and developing programs and resources to address them is at the core of the Council's mission to strengthen families.

The core of the fiduciary work of the board is outlined on pages five and six of this packet.

If you or someone you know might be interested in being considered for the Board, please review this package and fill out the enclosed Nomination Form.

Sincerely,

Sandra Routledge
President, BC Council for Families

ABOUT THE BC COUNCIL FOR FAMILIES

At the BC Council for Families, understanding the needs of families and developing programs, services, and resources to address them is at the heart of our purpose to strengthen families and family-serving professionals in BC.

Publications & Resources

We connect people throughout BC, and beyond, to quality information, resources, and research on topics that matter to professionals serving families. The Council produces practical, affordably priced publications on subjects as diverse as couple relationships, fathering, parenting tweens, and more. We offer free online resources, research, and information on current trends and issues affecting families through our website and our e-newsletters.

Serving Professionals

The Council is a leader in the field of family life education. Through our training programs, our professional development events and support networks, we encourage the life long learning that builds a strong professional workforce. Our expertise provides family service professionals with the knowledge and skills that enhance their ability to support families and communities throughout BC.

Our Programs

The parenting education and support programs of the BC Council for Families bring prevention to work for the families of British Columbia. Offered throughout BC by trained facilitators, these programs make a difference for families across the province.

Nobody's Perfect Parenting

Thousands of families have benefited from this essential, free parenting support program. Nobody's Perfect gives parents of young children the opportunity to share their experiences, challenges, and concerns in a supportive atmosphere, and receive the help and advice of trained facilitators. The Council offers three to four trainings per year and networking opportunities for trained facilitators.

Parent-Child Mother Goose

For 16 years the Parent-Child Mother Goose Program has helped parents and their young children throughout BC discover the pleasure of rhyming, singing, and telling stories together. The program is proven to build crucial early literary skills and strengthen parent-child relationships.

My Tween and Me

My Tween and Me helps parents to build strong relationships with their pre-teen and gives them the confidence and skills to guide them into – and through – the teen years.

Our Networks

The Alliance of Professionals Serving Young Parents Research confirms that teen parents who are able to complete high school have far greater chances of becoming economically independent and able to sustain a stable family life. Through the The Alliance of Professionals Serving Young Parents, the Council brings professionals who serve these families the resources, training, professional development, networking, and support they need in order to continue to meet the daily challenges of working with families at risk.

Our Community Building Initiatives

Home Visitor Training Initiative

Home Visiting programs are an effective and cost-efficient way to improve parental skills and confidence, connect families with other community resources, and ensure positive child outcomes. The Home Visitor Training Initiative brings high quality, research-based training to home visitors and program supervisors, establishing consistency in home visitor programs across the province.

Our Resource Projects

Kids in the Middle

Helping children adjust – ensuring families thrive. Separation and divorce bring many changes to families. But when families have the tools, strategies, and support to help them through these transitions, they can build a healthy future. From easy-to-read tip sheets for parents, to videos and podcast interviews with experts on how to work with families through divorce you'll find the resources you need.

LGBTQ+ Parents, Resources for Families & Professionals

Ensuring that your programs are inclusive of all families can be a challenge. We want to help reduce social isolation and promote healthy, resilient LGBTQ+ led families in communities throughout BC. Our resources promote the development of inclusive, welcoming, culturally competent programs and services for LGBTQ+ led families. We have tip sheets for both professionals and families that are accessible via our website.

Website

The Council's website serves as a collaborative space for professionals and organizations serving families through family life education programs across the province. The website also assists families in finding programs and resources to meet their needs.

Mission

We support families and professionals by sharing knowledge and building community connections

Vision

Families are vital to dynamic communities
