The BCCF Distinguished Service to Families Award

was established in 1987. In 2014 the BC Council for Families Board renamed the award after our late Executive Director Carol Matusicky, who served the agency with distinction for twenty-three years, from 1984 to 2007.

This Award will be distributed to a collaborative initiative, organization, program or an individual(s) family services professional(s), serving families in an exemplary manner that both:

- Meets the Mission of the Council to “Support families and professionals by sharing knowledge and building community connections,” and the Vision that “Families are vital to dynamic communities.”
- Provides quality preventative family life education and support programs to families within the Province of BC.

The collaborative initiative, organization, program or individual professional(s) must have made a demonstrable, measurable impact on the well being of families and/or the field of human services. Examples of this include, but are not limited to:

- A significant increase in prevention and support services;
- Development of an innovative program or service approach;
- Successfully advocating for a change in policy;
- Creation of a new and helpful network;
- Any tangible initiative that significantly improves the well-being of British Columbia's families.

The award will be bestowed to a collaborative initiative, organization, program or individual professional(s) as candidates are identified or nominated. The committee includes at present: Barbara Grantham, Doug Hayman, Dr. Robert Lees, Cathy Matusicky, Heather McBryan, Susan Papadionissou and Joel Kaplan.

The award will be distributed with a cash gift ($500 for an individual or $1000 for an Organization/ Collaboration/Project) from the Council's Carol Matusicky Endowment Fund at the Vancouver Foundation. The award is to be directed toward further training or professional development of the recipient, collaborative initiative, organizational staff member(s) or project members providing direct services and supports to families. Trainings do not have to be those offered exclusively by the Council.

The award will be announced annually, but may not be awarded on a yearly basis.

Nominations are due by 4pm, Friday, May 5, 2017
